Travel Receipts Told for Collin

Collin County received $7,754,200 of the State's $6,075,952,000 travel receipts in 1976, a national study commissioned by the Texas Tourist Development Agency has disclosed.

In addition to gross receipts, the study found that Collin County in 1976 had 237 of the state's 227,258 travel-related jobs with an annual payroll of $1,400,100.

It also estimated $308,300 in state and $56,700 in local taxes were paid by county visitors in 1976.

The study was done by the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C., an independent travel research organization funded jointly by public and private sectors.

It was based on the Center's Travel Economic Impact Model which breaks out a state's share of the national travel market on a county-by-county basis.

The model measures the economic impact of all travel involving overnight trips away from home, and day trips at least 100 miles or more from home. Thus it includes travel by Texans as well as out-of-state visitors, for all purposes.

It includes estimates of the traveler's spending at home in preparation for the trip, his spending en route, and that at his destination.

Basic data for the model comes from the National Travel Survey, conducted every five years by the U.S. Census Bureau, and from the Center's own National Travel Expenditure Model.

It was the latter which estimated that in 1975 Texas had dislodged New York for third place in the nation's travel industry. The 1976 figures, however, show Texas back in fourth place behind California, Florida, and New York.

"We're pleased that travel research techniques have finally developed to the point that states can determine where, within their boundaries, travel dollars are spent and travel-related jobs exist," said Frank Hildebrand, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

"Now we can trace travel's considerable economic impact on a county-to-county basis, observe changing patterns annually, and help direct the rapid growth of this burgeoning industry."

Decisions, Decisions

By DONALD H. MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation may have to make some hard choices in the next five years as to which goals — full employment, a balanced budget or new government programs—it wants most, the head of the Congressional Budget Office said today.

Alice Rivlin told Congress' Joint Economic Committee that only under the "most optimistic" economic assumptions could all those goals be achieved at once.

In order to begin making such choices, she said, Congress should begin setting federal budget targets several years ahead.

CBO, a research arm of Congress, released a report looking at the fiscal years 1979 through 1983.

Because of the progressive nature of the federal income tax, which keeps putting everyone in higher brackets, she said, the amount of money the government takes out of the economy during that period will rise faster than the amount it puts back in the form of wages, purchases and payments to individuals.

Unless policies are changed, the report said, this will exert a "fiscal drag" interfering with economic growth and efforts to reduce unemployment.

Under moderate economic assumptions, Mrs. Rivlin estimated that $115 billion in additional budget stimulus—tax cuts or spending increases—would be needed by 1983 to offset that drag.

In turn, that would mean a budget deficit of $19 billion in 1983, under moderate assumptions as to performance of the non-federal economy, she said.

The further the nation wants to reduce unemployment, she indicated, the harder it will be to balance the budget.

CBO suggested Congress could freeze federal spending as a percentage of gross national product, or could provide automatic tax cuts geared to inflation.

CBO's look ahead showed several things that will happen to federal programs by 1983 if current policies are unchanged:

—Defense will rise from 24 percent of government spending to 25 percent.

—Payments to individuals will rise from 32 percent to 36 percent, largely because of increases in the number of Social Security and Medicare beneficiaries.

—Grants to state and local governments will fall from 12 to 10 percent as some countercyclical programs phase out.

—Individual income taxes will rise from 44 percent of federal revenues to 52 percent.

—Corporate income taxes would remain a little over 14 percent of revenues.

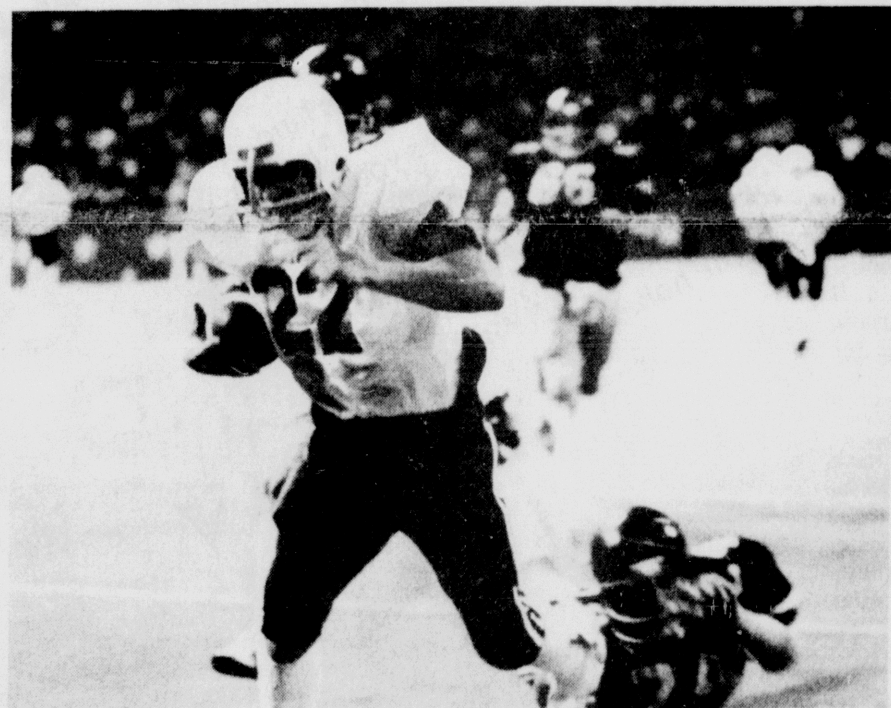

—Social insurance taxes would fall from 31 percent to 30 percent, assuming enactment of pending Social Security legislation.

On to Lubbock

As the Texas Stadium scoreboard proclaims the victor in Saturday night's quarterfinal football contest, Wildcat head coach Tommy Kimbrough and his team (above) signal that Plano is "Number One." The Wildcats astonished more than 35,000 spectators as they recovered from a 28-0 deficit in the third quarter to come back with a 29-28 win over the Highland Park Scots. Perry Haynes, 22, (below, left) raced for the winning touchdown thrown on a "flea-flicker" play from Stevie Haynes with only 33 seconds left in the game. Teammate Norris Smith 66, (below, right) signals that the following two-point conversion by quarterback Steve Ulmer is good. The 'Cats now face the State AAAA Semifinals against Odessa Permian at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Jones Stadium in Lubbock. For more game photos, see pages 10 and 11 of today's Daily Star-Courier. Israel 'Must Soften': Egypt's Sadat

By NED TEMKO

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat is challenging Israel to make a concession in the long-deadlocked Middle East dispute in response to his peace mission to Jerusalem.

Sadat said Sunday Israel "must soften its position, or they will be uncovered before the whole world" at the Cairo peace talks, scheduled to begin Dec. 14.

In an hourlong interview with UPI and Britain's Independent Television News, Sadat said Israel must "face the consequences" if it stands by its flat refusal to withdraw from all occupied Arab lands and allow the establishment of a Palestinian state.

Asked whether this meant the verbal nonaggression pact made with Israel in his milestone visit to Jerusalem last month might be in jeopardy, Sadat said:

with the answer (to my peace initiative) in their pockets," Sadat said.

In a further indication of the importance Sadat attaches to the parley, Egypt named a ministerial-level delegation to the talks. Israel's team is below ministerial level.

Students Finding Goals, Themselves In Co-op Agriculture Businesses Aid Program

By NANCY LONG
PISD Information Office

Giving students a taste of different kinds of work is one of the major attributes of the cooperative training programs offered at Plano Senior High School, according to Hugh Gibson, instructor-coordinator of the agriculture cooperative education program.

In the agriculture cooperative program, students go to school for one-half day and work for one-half day in agriculturally related businesses.

Gibson, in his first year at PSHS, has placed students in jobs in horticulture, nurseries, landscaping, horse ranches and stables, veterinarian clinics and farms. Also some of the 38 students work in meat packing processing, meat markets, grocery stores and egg production.

"Through the cooperative training programs, students get a real feel of different kinds of work. It gives them an opportunity to find out if they are interested in a field or not," the instructor pointed out.

"After all, when you're looking through a glass at a cake, it looks pretty good. But when you bite into it it sometimes is different than we expected," Gibson surmised.

In the agriculture cooperative education program juniors and seniors are enrolled in three academic subjects as well as attending one hour cooperative training instruction and working a minimum of 15 hours.

In his class session Gibson explores general concepts related to business such as work attitudes, how to prepare for an interview and "just about anything to help prepare youngsters for trying to find a job."

Students divide into clusters to receive more individualized training in areas related to their fields of employment.

On their jobs, students learn skills from their employers as well as experiencing work in a real life situation.

"So far I have been able to keep everyone placed in a job, but there are probably a great number of possibilities for employment that I'm not aware of," the new teacher said.

Some students need financial support and this program allows students to stay in school and make a living at the same time, the teacher pointed out.

Gibson said that more and more girls are beginning to become involved in this coop program. Eight of the 38 students involved now are girls and several who are working as veterinarians assistants have expressed intentions of studying to become veterinarians because of the experiences they have had in this program.

"The main goal of the program is to get students 'founded'. Whether a student chooses to go to college or not, he has at least found an occupation. It gives students a basis and working knowledge of what they want to do," Gibson concluded.

The duties of Vocational Agriculture students Tom Snyder and David Peckham at Uland's Egg Farm include sorting eggs and caring for the hens. The two boys, along with dozens of other Plano Senior High School students, are involved in a work-study program in which they go to school half a day and work the rest of the day. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

New officers for the 1977-78 year of the Collin County Bar Association were installed at a luncheon meeting at Los Rios Country Club recently. Leading the attorneys' organization for the coming year are (left to right, first photo) George Roland, vice president; David McCall III, president; and

Calm Down, Cope With Stress

Stress is a word we hear a lot. It's part of our everyday existence. We can't get rid of stress—but we can learn to cope with it.

Ways of coping are discussed in a new factsheet from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. For your free copy of "Stress", just send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 581F, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

There are two kinds of stress—from physical activity and from mental-emotional activity. Stress from emotional frustration is more likely to produce disease, such as ulcers. Physical exercise, on the other hand, can relax you and help you deal with mental stress.

Here are some tips to help you get a handle on stress: Work it off—If you're angry or upset, try to blow off steam physically by running, playing tennis or gardening. Even taking a walk can help. Physical activity allows you a "fight" outlet for mental stress.

Talk out your worries—It helps to share worries with someone you trust and respect. If you find yourself becoming preoccupied with emotional problems, it might be wise to seek a professional guidance counselor or psychologist.

This is not admitting defeat. It's acknowledging you are an intelligent human being who knows when to ask for help.

Learn to accept what you cannot change.

Avoid self medication—Many chemicals can mask stress symptoms—but they don't help you adjust to the stress itself. Remember—the ability to handle stress comes from within you, not from the outside.

Get enough sleep and rest—Lack of sleep can lessen your ability to deal with stress by making you more irritable. If stress repeatedly keeps you from sleeping, tell your doctor.

Balance work and recreation—"All work and no play can make anyone a nervous wreck."

'Candy Cane' Debut At Dallas Symphony

It will be festive holiday musical entertainment for the younger set when the Dallas Symphony Orchestra presents two "Candy Cane" concerts on Christmas weekend featuring Bob McGrath, star of television's "Sesame Street."

Performances will be at 2 p.m., Friday, Dec. 23, and 11 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 24, in Music Hall at Fair Park.

Capturing the enchantment of Christmastime will be singing, story-telling and orchestral numbers in a gala program ranging from such seasonal favorites as "Drummer Boy" and "O Christmas Tree" to contemporary selections.

Lee Norris, noted orchestrator and arranger, will be guest conductor.

McGrath, often called the "Pied Piper" of "Sesame Street", will lead the audience in sing-alongs of carols and rounds. To make things easier and more enjoyable, words will be projected on a large screen.

As special attraction will be the lighting of a gigantic Christmas tree with many members of the audience called upon to participate in the colorful ceremony.

Members of the Junior Symphony Ball Committee (high-schoolers), costumed in candy-striped outfits, will serve as ushers, treating each concert-goer with a candy cane as well as providing assistance throughout the program.

The concerts are also partially funded by patron ticket donations solicited as a project of this youth organization which supports the symphony with an annual benefit ball.

Immediately following the concerts, the audience will be invited on-stage for a close-up view of various instruments in the orchestra and explanations of them by some of the DSO's principal musicians.

Tickets, which are priced at $5 for reserved seats and $3 for general admission, are available at the Symphony Box Office in Titcher's at Northpark or may be ordered by phone at 692-0203.

"Love Songs"
The Beatles have released another album. The album contains all of the Beatles' love songs, which is the name of this album, "Love Songs" (Capitol). The album lives up to what is expected of the Beatles. Although some of the songs show up on albums two or three different times, all four sides of the LP are all slow songs recorded many years ago.

The album includes many of the Beatles old hits such as "Yesterday", "Michelle," and an old Beatle favorite entitled "The Long and Winding Road." The album also includes a 28 page lyric booklet including all of the words to the 25 songs on the LP. Another special feature located in the center of the album is an old picture of the Beatles.

The album is definitely a good album for Beatle fans, but if you have a few Beatle albums, you probably have all the songs from this LP.

Glenda Griffith will be releasing her first album in December. The album will include some 30 well-known musicians from southern California. Such musicians as Don Felder, Don Henley, Timothy Schmit and Joe Walsh, all from the Eagles, helped out with the album instrumentally. Also helping were Jackson Browne, Carole King and Andrew Gold. With a lineup like that behind her, how can Glenda go wrong?

The album starts out hard on the first song, moving into two slower songs. The second tune, entitled "Heavenly Island," was accompanied by Carole King on the piano and was one of two songs on the album written by Glenda. The next song, "Isn't That So," features some fine guitar work performed by Don Felder and Andrew Gold.

The flip side starts out bad with the first two songs, but moves into the better song on the album, "Night Eyes," the second song written by Glenda. The song also includes guitarist extraordinaire Joe Walsh and Don Felder on the electric guitars. The latter two songs on the LP tend to be country-oriented giving the album the ability to appeal to all audiences. With her allstar back-up group, the album should prove a good seller for Glenda.

"Musical Chairs"
San Francisco, LA., and London have been breeding grounds for thousands of talented rock musicians. Whether these people make it big or not is largely determined by luck. Those who never really ascend to the top are unfortunately often thrown to the side and forgot about. Sammy Hagar is a good example.

An offspring of Montrose, a once powerhouse Bay Area band, Hagar has set his sights on a solo career. "Musical Chairs" (Capitol), his third album contains some high energy music that can't be overlooked. Hagar's main weakness, however, is that of inconsistency. For instance, the opening number, "Tune Up The Music" is hard driving rock equipped with timely keyboard and guitar rhythms. But the next three songs are monotonous noise filled with thrown in lyrics. Ending the first side is an electrifying tune entitled "Reckless", which could even scare a group such as Uriah Heep.

As the album progresses, however, it improves. Songs like "Don't Stop Me Now", and "Crack In The World", are more uniform and less repetitious than those found on the opening track. Hagar and his band have a long way to go before they can gain widespread interest. An LP such as "Musical Chairs", however, proves they have the ingredients to become competitive.

Less Fuel:Not If They Don't Have To

By FRANK E. GRIFFIS
COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — Officials of the new Energy Extension Service are preparing to help Texans battle high fuel use and costs, but concede they will be handicapped by the voluntary nature of their program.

The EES, one of 10 state programs funded by a $1.1 million federal grant, is designed to encourage Texans to conserve energy. The experimental program will provide energy expertise to Texans in much the same manner the Agricultural Extension Services makes available agricultural advice.

Some of the energy information is quite simple and offers hints for cutting home fuel bills, such as a pamphlet issued listing "Facts and Fallacies about Fireplaces."

Other tips are scientific in their approach to conservation, such as a review of a study proving waste from poultry houses could provide a source of energy and fertilizer and solve waste disposal problems.

Originally targeted to serve homebuilders, small manufacturers, commercial operations, public institutions, hospitals, residential consumers and financial institutions, the EES officially begins operation next year.

"It's all strictly voluntary," said Larry Perrine, manager of the EES main office at Texas A&M University. "It's up to us to figure out ways to reach those audiences."

"Frankly, it's an uphill battle."

As long as Texans have enough money to pay their bills, they will hesitate to conserve voluntarily, he said, but the EES program hopes to change that attitude.

"More and more people are becoming aware that there are things they can do, cost effectively, to cut down on their utility costs," Perrine said.

"Our basic philosophy is that until it hits the people hard enough in their pocket books or until the government mandates that 'you will do this,' it is very difficult to get them to pay attention."

However, the EES program has been effective and has gotten private residents and businesses interested in conserving fuel, Perrine said.

"We get a lot of questions from people in the mail and several newspapers ask questions for their 'Action Line' columns," he said.

One of the points for homeowners the EES has been stressing is home insulation, which can provide a $2 return on every $1 added to the mortgage for insulation costs, he said.

Although Texas' physical size and large population precludes the distribution of energy conservation plans to all possible target audiences, the EES will conduct several statewide programs and will establish five local energy extension offices to conduct local and area programs, including lectures and demonstrations.

The five area offices — in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso and Lubbock — will deliver services to urban and rural homeowners, home builders, financial officers, real estate agents, small businesses and manufacturers, public institutions, city governments, architects, engineers and hospitals particular geographic areas.

Similar programs involving the universities of Houston, Texas, UT-Arlington, UT-San Antonio, UT-El Paso, Texas A&M, and Prairie View A&M are designed to reach specific audiences, such as the University of Houston being targeted for hospitals, he said.

The EES will conduct self-evaluation on its internal operations, Perrine said, and also has hired an outside evaluation contractor to review certain aspects of its program. The agency will prepare a final evaluation before its federal grant expires March 31, 1979.

Evening of Bach Free to Public

The North Texas State University Chamber Orchestra and A Cappella Choir will present an evening of Bach Tuesday (Dec. 6) at 8:15 p.m. in the NTSU Music Recital Hall.

The performance, free and open to the public, will be under the direction of NTSU School of Music faculty member Anshel Brusilow.

The Chamber Orchestra will open the program with Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D Major," featuring graduate students Elisabeth Adkins of Denton on violin; Karen Lehner of Buffalo, N.Y., on flute; and Debora Dunn of Bloomsburg, Pa., on harpsichord.

The A Cappella Choir will perform with the Chamber Orchestra on the "Cantata No. 50" and the "Magnificat." Soloists for the "Magnificat" are graduate students Phyllis Bush, Grand Junction Mesa, Colo.; Carolyn Finley, Plano; Gary Petersen, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Linda Brannon, Jonesboro, Ark.; Mark Myers, Beavers, Okla.; Patti Abasolo, Augusta, Ga.; and seniors Mary Kelly of Pasadena, Karen Bogan of Franklin and Marc Much of Indianapolis, Ind.

Local Elementary Schools Set Holiday Performances

Seasonal music presented by local children will be highlighted this week as the Plano elementary schools begin presenting their annual Christmas programs for the Parent-Teacher Organizations (PTO).

Many of the programs will feature the students playing Orff instruments that were recently purchased by the school district for use in the elementary music programs, according to Mary Ozzane, elementary music coordinator. The instruments come in varying sizes and resemble wooden xylophones.

The Barron Elementary fourth and fifth grade combined choir will present a program at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday at the school. The 75-voice group will perform "Christmas Story" with the Orff instruments as well as other popular holiday numbers such as "Frosty the Snowman" and "Hear We Come A Wassailing." Music teacher Pat Berkley along with fourth and fifth grade teachers are coordinating the program.

Mendenhall fifth graders will present "Christmas Story" with Orff instrument accompaniment at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at the school. Eighty-five youngsters will be singing and 36 will have speaking and playing parts. Mrs. Berkley and the fifth grade teachers are the planners of the program that will include "Do You Hear What I Hear" and "White Christmas."

The Sigler Elementary fourth, fifth and sixth grade selected choir with 130 voices will perform for the PTO at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at the school. Under the direction of Mrs. Ozzane, the students will sing "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland" and "The Candy Man" as well as other seasonal songs. The Orff instruments will be used on "Alleluia" and "Glory, Glory."

Traditional Yule time music will be combined with the modern at the Christie Elementary's program at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at the school. The fifth grade choir will present "Caroling, Caroling," "Some Children See Him" and "Deck the Halls" as well as an old Appalachian carol called "Child of God." Music teacher Jean Cameron will be directing the 60-voice choir and the 25 youngsters with speaking parts that are interspersed in the program themed "Holiday Traditions."

"Christmas songs, finger plays and poems are on store for the Forman PTO at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at the school. Some 115 kindergarten students dressed in pajamas will sing "Up on the House Top" and "I'm Getting Nothing for Christmas" and "Silent Night" in German. The program in under the direction of the kindergarten staff. Also to be featured will be piano playing by Barbara Bennie, great-granddaughter of William Forman for whom the school was named.

Dressed in costumes that they made, Hughston first graders will present holiday songs and skits depicting different facets of the Christmas season. They will sing "Need a Little Christmas," "Frosty the Snowman" and "O Christmas Tree" and will use the Orff instruments on "Santa's Helpers." The first grader teachers are coordinating the program at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at the school.

"Christmas Cards" is the theme for the program to be sung and narrated by 70 fifth graders at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at Weatherford Elementary School. The fifth grade staff members are in charge of the program which will include a collection of Alfred Burt Christmas carols such as "Caroling, Caroling" and "Some Children See Him." Standard Christmas music including "White Christmas" and "No Place Like Home for the Holidays" will also be performed.

The fourth and fifth grade combined choir and the recorder class will present the Shepard Elementary PTO program at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday. Selections to be performed by the 125 youngsters will include "Child of God," "African Noel" and "Jingle Bell Rock." Selected Christmas readings will also be on the program coordinated by the Shepard staff and music teacher Laura Hargett.

A play entitled "A Cornucopia of Christmas Customs" will be presented by 145 members of the third grade choir for the Memorial Elementary Parent-Teacher Association (PTA) at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday. Under the direction of Janeen Charraway, the students will sing "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Deck the Halls," "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and "Hit the Pinata." The youngsters will be dressed in costumes from various countries around the world.

SAVING TIPS on electric heating

1. Keep heating equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
2. Set thermostat at 68° or lower. Lower to 50°-60° if you'll be away several days.
3. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and warm air loss.
4. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, replace if dirty.
5. Thorough home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use. Can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.
6. When fireplace is not in use, keep damper closed.
7. On sunny days open draperies, blinds to let in warmth of sun.

8. Open outside doors as little as possible.
9. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns so air will flow easily. Clean often.

Hank Jr. No Longer Like Dad After Arizona Mountain Fall

By TOM MADDEN
CULLMAN, Ala. (UPI) — Two years ago, Hank Williams Jr. survived a terrible fall from a mountain near Wisdom, Ariz. Now, there's no more living with the past for the son of a country music idol.

"Just before the fall I was doing what everybody else wanted me to do," he said. "I was programmed to dress like daddy, sing like daddy and act like daddy. It was hell."

"People came to see me because I was Hank Williams' son. Now, it feels real good when people applaud me because of my own work and style."

Hank Williams died at 29 after becoming a singing sensation with a string of hits that included "Your Cheatin' Heart," "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry," and "You Win Again." His son almost died at 27 when he fell while mountain climbing.

"I went down about 490 feet and hit a boulder. The doctors said I wouldn't live, but I fooled them. I was out of the hospital in 15 days."

Williams, 29, who describes himself as a hunting and fishing freak, has had eight operations since the August, 1975 fall. Every bone in Williams' face was broken and most of the operations were aimed at putting the entertainer's face back together.

"Right after the fall my mouth was wired up and the first thing I wanted to know was would I be able to hunt again," he said while sitting among his hundreds of hunting trophies. "I thought it was stupid to ask if I could sing again."

Williams was back singing in May of 1976 and continued to complete the transition to being what he described as his own man.

He still considers himself a hunting and fishing freak and has moved to a newly built home in a wooded, secluded area near this northwest Alabama town.

"Nashville had become like Hollywood. I just wanted to get away and be around people that understand me."

"I had already started changing my philosophy just before the fall, but the accident just made it even more so," he said. "I had plenty of time to think in the hospital and I knew I had to change."

He said before the mishap his act consisted of imitating his father. "I wore white suits, jumped over mikes and sang about 14 of my daddy's songs. When I would try something new, people would tell me the audience wasn't coming to hear that stuff and for me to stick to my daddy's hits."

Williams said that following the fall he began to write more of his own material, changed his stage appearance and began trying new musical techniques.

"I'm writing and singing about today now and using more of my style of music," he said. "I still use some of Daddy's songs in my act, but not like I used to."

Williams' latest album is entitled the "New South," and the entertainer said the compositions encompass most of his new approach.

"In the album I sing about today and not 1951 like I was with Daddy's songs. I don't want to continue living in the past."

Livestock Prices on the Rise

A study of sale averages of animals auctioned at the State Fair of Texas' Junior Livestock Show has shown above-the-market increases in every category, including a 12 cents increase over the 55.3 cents per pound offered for steers at the 1976 Junior Steer Auction.

Recently published figures by the State Fair of Texas' Livestock Office shows that the 1,795 youths that participated in animal sales this year, took in $298,897 for 42 sired steers, 259 red, white and blue ribbon steers, 571 Jr. Barrows, 143 Jr. Lambs and 350 Jr. Broilers.

They also received an additional $23,907 in premium money.

The 1,200 youths that participated in the 1976 show garnered $306,978, about $15,826 less than this year's combined total.

Tabulations also show that steers sold this year averaged 27 cents per pound more than the market price for the day, averaging 67.3 cents per pound, with sired steers averaging $414 per head.

Several new records were also scribed in the books with a $20,000 bid for the Grand Champion Steer, $1,850, $1,700 and $1,500 for the Champion Medium Fine Wool Suffolk, Champion Fine Wool Rambouillet and Champion Shropshire, respectively. The $900 price-tag for the 230 pound Champion Crossbred Barrow also forced a change in the record book.

Center Seminar Open

Selecting a niche in your home for a house plant which will give it the required amount of lighting many times will prevent disastrous results in pole leaner and lack of growth.

A pair of experts, Dr. Robert Moon, Dallas County Extension Horticulturist, and Neil Sperry, Area Extension Horticulturist, will team up for a "light gardening seminar" on November 29. They will explain the principles of light selection, plant growth under light and blending lights with interior decor.

They also will answer light questions about lighting plants for both the home and apartment.

Held at the Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center, the program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting is free and open to the public.

lecturer sponsored by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Shinn will deliver his paper entitled, "An Environmental Approach to Limestone Diagenesis," and show a color film, "Geology of the Belize Barrier Reef," for which he was photographer.

The 4 p.m. lecture will be in Founders North Auditorium on the UT-Dallas campus, located at Floyd and Campbell Roads in Richardson.

Program chief of the U.S. Geological Survey Oil and Gas Brach Sedimentation Program, Shinn is speaking as part of the continuing UT-Dallas Geosciences Seminar Series.

Vinegar cleans steam irons

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—Please tell me what to use to clean a steam iron.—FREDA.

DEAR FRED—Pour some vinegar in your iron and then add water, turn to "steam" and leave iron on for five minutes or so. Do set it on plenty of newspapers so if any sediment steams out it will fall on the paper. Unplug and let stand until vinegar water solution cools, empty and any loose particles should come out, too. Wipe iron with a damp cloth.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve concerns buying packaged meat and then when opening it you find all the fat was on the bottom where you could not see it.

My sister gave me a wonderful wall duster made with nylon net. It was a large pompom of net attached to a dowel stick and is marvelous for removing cobwebs from the ceiling and corners. Once I was expecting company and had no time to vacuum so I grabbed my pompom and swished it over the rugs and was delighted as it really picked up the lint.—MATILDA.

DEAR POLLY—One of the readers wanted to know how to clean a leather or plastic chair. She should not use water or soap but buy a can of saddle soap spray. Spray this on, rub it off and find it leaves the chair soft and beautiful. I do this every week and my large white chair is soft as a kitten and not a bit sticky.—MILLIE.

DEAR POLLY—When baking I used to often omit an ingredient such as salt, etc. because of interruptions so now I set all the needed ingredients out on the counter and as each one is added the container is replaced in the cupboard. When a cake or whatever is ready for the oven, all the ingredients are back in the cupboard and I know nothing has been left out. An extra bonus is that the counter is neat. I do the same when making breakfast or packing lunches and know when the counter is clean the job is done and nothing has been forgotten.—SHIRLEY.

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for those mothers who have trouble keeping their small children's games and puzzles together. I visited in a home where the mother kept each game or puzzle in a separate plastic bag on a high shelf and when they were to be used there was no hunting for games or parts.

Also I suggest that those who have trouble threading a needle could use an embroidery needle with a long eye as they come in all sizes.—H.J.D.

DEAR POLLY—If you use fabric softener sheets when you remove one from the dryer use it right then to clean out the lint trap. No sponges or cloths to rewash. I am a man and think I have made a pretty good find that the ladies will like as it works better than a sponge.—FRANK.

Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

Wildcat Win Highlights Playoffs

By United Press International
Dallas Highland Park Coach Frank Bevers had been upset earlier in the week because Plano Coach Tom Kimbrough had refused to exchange game films. But Kimbrough says what carried his team to a 29-28 victory over the Scots wouldn't have been noticeable on film. "This group has character like you wouldn't believe and they didn't give in," Kimorough said. "It gets a little old but you have to use the word character when you talk about these kids." The Wildcats trailed 28-0 early in the third quarter but pulled within one point on a 61-yard halfback pass from Stevie Haynes to Perry Haynes with 33 seconds left. Quarterback Steve Ulmer then rolled around right end for the winning two-point conversion. "It had to be the biggest heartache of my coaching career and for these kids who played their hearts out all year," Bevers said.

Silsbee, 12-0. In Class AA quarterfinals, No. 1 Bellville remained undefeated and advanced with 21-7 win over defending state champion Rockdale and now meets ninth-rated Yoakum, which edged San Antonio Ranolph 14-7. Childress and Wylie will play in the other semifinal. Seagraves, the top-ranked Class A team, this week will play Wall, unbeaten and ranked fourth, in a semifinal while Arp and East Bernard meet. Seagraves remained undefeated by whipping Sunray, 33-7, and Wall beat Pottsboro, 28-6. Lone Oak and Wheeler meet Saturday for the Class B state title.

Haden, Dorsett Quiet Critics

National Football League Roundup

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Executive Sports Editor
They were major question marks when the season began but on Sunday all three emerged as stars to guarantee their clubs division titles.
People said Pat Haden was too small to play quarterback in the National Football League and it seemed Los Angeles management agreed when they signed veteran Joe Namath as a free agent last spring.

But Haden supplanted Namath as a starter early in the season and Sunday he brought the Rams the NFC West title, when he threw a 43-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson with just 2:10 left for a 20-14 victory over the Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders.
There were those who doubted Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett's ability to perform as a pro. They cited his lack of size and wondered whether he could withstand the punishment of a long season.

But Dorsett silenced his critics Sunday, when he capped a club-record 206-yard rushing performance with a dazzling 84-yard touchdown run that propelled Dallas to a 24-14 victory over Philadelphia and brought the Cowboys a fifth straight NFC East title.
And there were many who questioned whether Craig Morton had the ability to be an NFL quarterback when he was with New York Giants. But he found new life in Denver and Sunday he threw two TD passes, then came off the bench after being injured to set up the clinching score in a 24-14 victory over Houston. The win brought Denver its first playoff berth in the club's 18-year history.

Oakland tied the game with 4:43 left on a 21-yard TD pass from Ken Stabler to Dave Casper and veteran Errol Mann's extra point gave the Raiders a 14-13 lead. But the Rams, who intercepted four Stabler passes and recovered two Raider fumbles, came right back. They drove from their own 17 to the Oakland 43 in five plays as Haden hit three passes. On 2nd-and-12, Haden threw to Jackson, who eluded the Raider secondary for his first reception of the day.

"It's gratifying to me, of course," said Morton. "But you have to understand this is a closely knit unit that has played together all year."
Other NFL games Sunday:
Vikings 28, 49ers 27:
Rookie Tommy Kramer came off the bench to throw three TD passes in the final period, one for 69 yards, and rally Minnesota over San Francisco.
Giants 27, Cardinals 7:
Bill Bryant returned an interception 54 yards for a TD and Joe Pisarcik's 64-yard pass to Gary Shirk set up another TD, enabling the flu-ridden Giants to damage St. Louis' playoff hopes.
Redskins 10, Bills 0:
Joe Theismann threw a 12-yard TD pass to Jean Fugett in the second quarter to lead Washington over Buffalo. St. Louis and Washington face each other next week in a wildcard showdown.
Bears 10, Buccaneers 0:
Walter Payton gained 101 yards, including the game's only TD on a 3-yard run in the final period, and Bob Thomas kicked a 32-yard field goal as Chicago handed winless Tampa Bay their 26th straight loss.
Patriots 16, Falcons 10:
Stev Grogan threw a 33-yard TD pass to rookie Stanley Morgan with 4:40 left to rally New England over Atlanta.
Steelers 30, Seahawks 20:
Terry Bradshaw passed for one TD and ran for another and Roy Gerela kicked a 43-yard field goal in a 17-point fourth quarter that lifted Pittsburgh over stubborn Seattle.
Jets 16, Saints 13:
Pat Leahy kicked three field goals, including a career best of 48 yards, to lead New York over New Orleans.

Playoffs Clouded By Possible Miami Win

By LES KJOS
gmiami (upi) — If you're enough of a football freak to own an NFL rule book, you might get it out because things could get complicated should underdog Miami beat Baltimore in the Orange Bowl tonight.
With New England narrowly knocking off Atlanta Sunday, an Orange Bowl victory for the Dolphins would put the Patriots back in the AFC East race.
The Dolphins and Colts would be tied, at 9-3, with the Patriots a game back, at 8-4. The key is that New England and Baltimore in the regular season finale a week later, season finale a week later.
Two New England wins would throw the division into a three-way tie, at 10-4, and the league would have to start exploring its complicated tie-breaking formula.
But Miami would be sitting pretty also, because if they stop the Colts and win their last two, the title would be theirs with their better record within the division breaking the possible tie with Baltimore.

Finally, a Baltimore win tonight — and they are slight favorites — would about put it away for them with a two-game lead and two games to play.
The game shapes up as a battle of wits and arms between the opposing quarterbacks, Miami's Bob Griese and the Colts' Bert Jones. ggriese leads AFC conference quarterbacks, according to the NFL's rating system, and Jones is second.
But Jones has been nothing but big trouble for the Dolphins, leading the Colts to five straight wins over Miami and throwing his last 165 passes without an interception.
"We bring out the best in him," said linebacker Bob Matheson. "He's well aware of what we do offensively, and I guess he's out-executed us. We run a lot of zones and he's thrown a lot underneath our coverage." Miami Coach Don Shula has been a Jones admirer ever since the former LSU star's rookie year.

"In the five games they've won, he's played pretty much error-free football," Shula said of Jones.
The injury picture is not bright for either team. Baltimore running backs Lydell Mitchell (groin pull) and Roosevelt Leaks (knees and ankles) are both hurting along with wide receiver Roger Carr.
Miami will be without defensive end Vern Den Herder (knee) and safety Charley Babb (collar bone), who were sidelined for the season in Miami's 55-14 thrashing of St. Louis Thanksgiving Day.
Listed as questionable are linebacker Steve Tolle (knee), wide receiver Duriel Harris (hamstring) and fullback Leroy Harris (hamstring).

"I never doubted that I could be the starter, said Haden, who is 7-1 since taking over for Namath.
Dorsett's run was a club-record and his two TDs gave him 11 for the year, equaling a club record set in 1971 by Duane Thomas. He also became only the third rookie in NFL history to gain more than 200 yards in a game.
"I hope to have more days like this," said Dorsett, who now has 865 yards. "If my linemen block like they did today, I'll have a thousand yards."
Morton's TD passes of 13 yards to Riley Odoms and Rick Upchurch and Jim Turner's 42-yard field goal in the third period gave Denver a 17-7 lead. Houston countered with a 29-yard TD pass from Dan Pastorini to Ken Burrough but Morton came back after an injury to set up backup quarterback Norris Weese' 5-yard run for the clinching TD.

Abilene Christian Vies For NAIA Grid Title

By United Press International
Two small college football powers from Oklahoma and Texas will meet next Saturday for the NAIA Division 1 football championship, but they will have to travel a little to find each other.
Top-ranked Southwestern Oklahoma and second-rated Abilene (Tex.) Christian play for the championship in Seattle's Kingdome Saturday in the first Apple Bowl game.
Abilene Christian won its place in the finals last Saturday with a 35-7 victory over Wisconsin-Stevens Point and Southwestern Oklahoma whipped Kearney (Neb.), 21-7.

The Abilene Wildcats will be trying to become the sixth straight representative from the powerful Lone Star Conference to win the NAIA championship.
Texas A&I won the title the past three years, Abilene Christian won it the year before that and East Texas State the year before that.
Lone Star Conference teams have won the national crown seven of the past eight years.

Abilene Christian waltzed over Wisconsin-Stevens Point on the 200-yard, three-touchdown performance of Kelly Kent, a sophomore fullback who had his best day ever.
On the Wildcats second play from scrimmage Kent dashed 54 yards for a touchdown and Abilene's swarming defense shut down highly touted Stevens Point passer Reed Giordana.
Southwestern Oklahoma, undefeated in 11 games, was paced by quarterback Mike Sekul.
